

MEDIA STUDIES

Media Studies encourages students to explore and gain a knowledge of the media in an academic context and apply this to their own media productions. They develop critical thinking skills as they study the media in both global and historical contexts, gaining a progression of understanding about how sections of the media present ideologies and narratives through their product. The progression from Year 12 to Year 13 encompasses a practical task to build resilience and aid personal development, while helping students to understand audiences and the wider media industry.
